Judi,

Well first of all, the letter I received from you was quite a shock. Secondly, though I would love to help I'm not sure you're whom you claim, perhaps I should not even write back.

Let me assure you of two truths. I did not commit such a crime and at no time did I enter a guilty plea. Where ever you read I plead guilty it was either a mis-print or very wrongful act of a angry writer, or it may have been a ploy to influence public opinion. Judi I would to express something to you and hopefully as an adult you may have a mature enough understanding to embrace why I feel this way.

I'm not a prejudice person and not all bad situations can be blamed on the color of our skins, however in my particular case race was both the social and political issue which cover'd up many questionable and un-told facts.

My family was basically poor at the end we couldnt afford very good counselling. I was portrayed as a young angry black male whom come from a big city to a small town just to prey on a innocent white family. The local media printed things which basically reflected the views of the "States attorneys office" which of course in turn influence the whole community and made it impossible that I may pick a fair jury. all of the jury members were white and people whom know close to nothing about being "Black" in this country and how we're perceived and treated.

I was rushed through the system - and who would care?
I don't mean to make you feel ~~bad~~ bad but the laws, code of ethics, moralistic values are very one-sided in this country.
The constitution was not written to protect "people of color", in fact we "Blacks" were consider'd sub-human. The constitution was meant to protect white people in general. After whites stole, rob, sold people like garments, killed, took lands and wealth, then they decide to become honorable people. whites are master liars and manipulators in general.

Don't mistake my meaning, I'm speaking of whites whom have the power to "define" what was and what shall be. Because whites have done so much, so many horrible through out history that now they realize some of the same things may start to happen to them. Whites make up 10 percent of the world population, 90 percent is people of color. In doing all of what they've done they have become the controlling agents of our social, political, and economic standards. In order for whites to survive and stay on top of 90 percent of the world population they have to keep plenty confusion, chaos, and racism among the masses.

It took me 19 years to meet my fate, and 14 longer years to understand why.

I'm not a bitter man, in fact I'm very grateful for the knowledge I now have.

I do know somehow, someday I'll once again have my physical freedoms. Until then I will continue to enjoy the blessings given me by God the Father.

I would also like to add that never before prison in my wildest imagination would I have thought that race made much of a difference to anyone but over the years facts and several studies prove me wrong. It starts on such a large scale that about time it makes it down to us smaller people its much too much for us to understand.

For example, when Blacks come to this country they were separated from their family, forbidden to speak their own language, not allowed to read, whipped as animals, killed as hunting game, demoralized in any conceivable way imaginable. This cruel and un-just madness was passed from one generation of slave master to the next. The very psychological make-up of the slaves themselves were passed on to their off-springs. Things such as "fear and alienation" Blacks are almost born with. We don't even have a identity in this country. Our names are Davis, Jones, Jackson, Homea, Peterson, ect. all those names were slave-master names.

of course there are blacks and other people of color whom will do well - however they are exceptions compared to the rest. The whole social condition of the places we live are controlled by our system, our economic structure is controlled, our educational system is controlled, our news paper T.V. radio is controlled. The things which people do today are fragments of ideals and thoughts from times before now. Not all things you see are ~~true~~ real, not all things heard are true. B.V.T. all things seen and heard influence thought. Thought is the nature by which all character is shaped. Now you know why this country spends billions on propaganda - its to ensure control and influence - so they can always appear right.

I know I havint answer'd your direct questions however as I stated I don't know you or your intent.
How did you get the info to write me? and where did you read I pleaded guilty? because its un-trul. blacks committs crime but a lot of blacks are scapegoats for crime they don't have the money to prove their innocence.

At this moment I don't trust you, you're the first white person whom even
"ask" did I do it. Everyone else just smiles.

Judi I only wish your family the best, its hard for mine too. Take care.
I didnt mind the letter.

Sincerely,

Andre' Davis
